

MARQUIS OKUMA, JAP STATESMAN, DIES IN TOKIO

(By The Associated Press.)
Tokio, Jan. 6. (By The Associated Press.)—Marquis Shigenobu Okuma, Japan's octogenarian statesman, died at his home here today.

When the Tokio correspondent of the Associated Press in 1916 requested Japan's great model statesman to give him some material for a sketch of his life Marquis Okuma broke out in a smiling exclamation: "Why a sketch of me?—I am alive to 125. My life work is only fairly under way."

That conviction, oftentimes voiced, until his friends say, he really and sincerely believed in it is the explanatory essence of Okuma's career. In 1915 and 1916 during Marquis Okuma's prime as prime minister of his country and leading it onward in a time of great international strife with all the enthusiasm and energy and hope of a young man of thirty. He was wonderful in every way—even his enemies thought that.

Okuma was a great bridge between old and new Japan. His life work was devoted to reconciling the old and the new. While striving to maintain the dignity and nobility for which the samurai fought, he yet pushed Japan forward intellectually and materially to obtain for her the rank of a first class power by taking over the civilization of the west and making it an integral part of Nippon.

Shigenobu Okuma, called Hachitaro Okuma in his boyhood, was born in February, 1833, at Saga, one of the leading cities of Kyushu, the most southern of the three great islands of Japan. He was raised by an ideal mother and mother and he began life under very fortunate circumstances. His father, Nobuyasu Okuma, was the of the influential clansmen of Saga and was the commander of the fortress at Nagasaki.

The statesman was a member of the second Matsukata ministry and in June, 1885, formed a cabinet of his own which lasted six months. Later he took up educational work and founded the famous Waseda university. He wrote constantly. Then when the Yamanote cabinet fell in 1914, Emperor Yoshihito summoned him to form the ministry which held office during the great European war.

It was under his administration that Japan herself entered the war on the side of the allied nations, contributing to the embarrassment of Germany by the capture of Kiaochow, and by aiding the entente powers financially and through the manufacture of munitions. It was also during his administration that the important Russo-Japanese convention of 1916 was arranged and signed.

Marquis Okuma's beautiful home at Tokio adjoining Waseda was the Mecca for thousands of visitors. He seemed to find time to talk with everybody. He admitted and believed in the press as the great medium to reach the people and as the great medium of progress. He liked to talk to journalists and then to show them his wonderful plants. His greatest book production was "Fifty Years of New Japan."

He was one of Japan's greatest orators. He was democratic by conviction and democratic in manner. He possessed a strong, heroic, firmness and tenacity. His mouth and chin breathed courage, firmness and tenacity. His eyes showed intelligence and gentleness and a great understanding of the needs and problems of the millions of Japanese which make up the Empire of Nippon.

PARK ASSOCIATION COMMITTEE TO MEET IN EL PASO JAN. 11

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.)

Las Cruces, N. M., Jan. 6.—When the permanent executive committee of the Southern National All-Year Park association met at the El Paso chamber of commerce the afternoon of January 11, the offices of chairman and executive secretary will be filled by election and appointment.

H. H. Brook, committeeman for Dona Ana county and temporary chairman of the permanent committee, who called the meeting, announced the other members of the committee as follows:

Sierra county, Robert Martin, Hot Springs.

Socorro county, Governor M. C. Mechem, Socorro, (temporary).

Otero county, W. A. Hawkins, El Paso.

Lincoln county, M. French, Carrizozo.

Chaves county, H. M. Dew, Roswell.

Eddy county, Z. R. Moon, Hope.

West Texas, Richard F. Burges and H. B. Stevens, El Paso.

At the meeting, which is called for 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Mr. Brook said, Major Burges and Judge Hawkins will read the first draft of the bill that is to be presented to congress.

"The other business is the election of a permanent chairman and executive secretary, and make plans for an active and extensive campaign. A budget is to be decided upon, and arrangements made to carry out the work. Chambers of commerce and the various other organizations will be invited to co-operate in raising funds."

It is expected that Las Cruces will be made permanent headquarters for the association, which, after organizing New Mexico and Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

DISCUSSION OF SHANTUNG ENDS; NO SETTLEMENT

is not acceptable. The Chinese delegates proposed an immediate cash payment for the railway, but we do not desire to sell to China the railway property.

"The original proposition of the Japanese government was to make a cash payment for the railway, but we do not desire to sell to China the railway property. You must remember that this railway is now Japanese property but as China expressed the wish to have a share in it, we expressed our accord and agreed to give the railway to China on a 50 per cent basis, but this was not acceptable to them. They wanted to take over all the railway. So we went still further. We were ready to give the railway to China but they would not give up all our interest in the property.

"So we planned to make the transfer in the form of a railway loan, the terms of which should be no different from other similar railway loan agreements which China has entered into with other powers. Under such a disposition of the question Japan would have the right to furnish the traffic manager and chief accountant; with the understanding that they were to be appointed by China."

Mr. Hanthara said that Japan was not vitally concerned over the value of the railway, but pointed out that the reparation commission had placed the value at the time the Germans left the railway at 15,000,000 gold marks.

A Chinese newspaper correspondent said:

"Suppose China says to you 'Here's the money for the railway now, would you take it?'"

"Such a plan," Mr. Hanthara replied, "is not acceptable to our government. Our object is to bring about a better understanding between Japan and China, and we do not want a question like the raising of money by China which might be difficult but which the Chinese would succeed in doing in a burst of patriotism, to hurt the feelings between the two countries."

systems of property rights, government or political economy.

Second—That it is impossible to induce foreign capital to come to the aid of a country unless the foreigners who furnish the funds are certain their rights will be respected and that the profits from their ventures be assured.

Third—That this security cannot be considered and established unless nations or governments of nations desiring to obtain foreign credits undertake freely to recognize all public debts and obligations contracted by a state and restore confiscated property or indemnify the victims of confiscations.

Medium of exchange.

Fourth—That nations must have a suitable medium of exchange and monetary system and must offer proper guarantees to trade.

Fifth—That all nations must undertake to abstain from all propaganda subversive of public order in the political system established in other countries.

Sixth—That all countries must undertake to abstain from all aggression upon their neighbors.

If the Russian government claims official recognition in order to assure development of its commerce, the allied powers can accord the same only upon acceptance of the foregoing stipulations.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW.

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Jan. 6.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Post holiday quiet features trade and industry as a whole, but the influence of counter currents in retail trade and in some of the big industries relieves the situation of some of the usual early in year inactivity. Thus, while results of inventories or preparations for sending salesmen on the road occupy wholesalers, there is some life seen in cotton goods at large primary markets. Wool is active and advancing, though the goods market is quiet and raw silk is strong, with December consumption eighteen per cent off from November but over double last year's. In retail trade, after holiday sales, coupled with colder weather in some areas, helps distribution, heavy wearing apparel, shoes and rubbers being permanent in the market. In the south retail is more marked than at the north, and in Texas high temperatures and drought, which latter hurt the grain crops, limit buying. Weekly bank clearings, $6,716,150,000.

JUDGE NEBLETT WILL HOLD COURT IN DENVER

(By The Associated Press.)

Denver, Colo., Jan. 6.—Colin Neblett, United States district judge of New Mexico, has been assigned to preside in the United States district court here early in February. It was announced today. The Denver district bench has been vacant since the resignation of Judge Robert E. Lewis and his elevation to the bench of the United States circuit court of appeals.

and oldest of ten children. The girl, his wife to be, had been a neighbor since they were little children. Walker said, "I never had any other girl."

Miss Tice called to see Walker this morning and brought him a few letters.

Walker said she had destroyed letters he had written her from time to time while he lived in Gallup, telling of his intentions to come to California. Those letters, Walker thought, had the girl saved them, would completely exonerate him of connection with the Blackwell murder.

"I asked her whether she had the letters, and she said she had destroyed them because she feared her folks would see the contents, which referred to the baby. We didn't expect the baby until February and I was trying to get settled in the city. I didn't have every comfort. We were going to keep our marriage a secret, so that we wouldn't get in bad with our folks and now this thing happens."

"When I met back to Gallup I can explain everything and I know they won't make me go trial. If they think they have anything against me, I don't imagine how they got it. I didn't do anything, only left suddenly and that was on Kline's account. I have letters in my suitcase from her asking me to come to Los Angeles. That's all I can say."

DECISIONS RENDERED BY THE SUPREME COURT

BROOK PRESIDENT OF THE ELEPHANT BUTTE IRRIGATION DISTRICT

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.)

Las Cruces, N. M., Jan. 6.—Newly elected directors of the Elephant Butte Irrigation district at their first regular meeting in the Temple of Agriculture, re-elected H. H. Brook as president of the district and appointed him as manager for two years. Percy W. Barker of Mesilla, was named as secretary. The directors are:

L. F. Elliott, Garfield; George Bonvic, Hatch; H. H. Brook, Las Cruces; P. W. Barker, Mesilla; P. L. McKamy, Anthony; D. E. Rodriguez, San Miguel; F. J. Rigney, Chamberlain, and J. E. Reinburg, La Union and J. W. Taylor, Dona Ana.

Mr. Brook will devote his entire time to district affairs, which include policies and problems to be worked out in the interest of the water-users in the Mesilla and Lincoln valleys. The paramount development projects are:

Making an all-year national park out of Elephant Butte lake. Publicity, emigration and the development of this land.

Hydro-electric power development at Elephant Butte dam.

Financial adjustment with the federal government of its relations with Mexico.

Mr. Brook also announced that the Farm Loan bank is expected to loan in the neighborhood of $100,000 a year in Dona Ana county, or at least $500,000 in the next five years. The bank will also undertake to bring commercial loaning agencies into this district.

JOHN WANAMAKER IS NOT DEAD, ASSERTS

(By The Associated Press.)

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 6.—John Wanamaker today laughed away the report from the south that he was dead. Sitting in his office on the seventh floor of his store building engaged in a conference when he was apprised of the report, the former postmaster general said:

"I am as well as you are. There is nothing wrong with me but a slight cold. I received a letter to-day making an engagement for 1932."

Mr. Wanamaker, who is in his eighty-fourth year, was curious to know where the report came from. "If the report of my death is to be sent from Florida, I will stay away from there," he said.

FORMER COWMAN HELD ON LIQUOR CHARGE

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.)

Las Vegas, N. M., Jan. 6.—From affluence as a cowman in the Texas Panhandle eighteen months ago to a state ordering on poverty and faced by the charge of bootlegging is the experience of Bob Evans, now in the county jail here awaiting the action of the federal grand jury. Evans' bail has been fixed at $2,000 by United States Commissioner W. G. Ogle, and he expects to be able to raise it.

De Baca, who is a member of the council of the town of Las Vegas, says he went to the farm and found Jack McBride engaged in making liquor at a still. "I told him that he'd have to get off the place, and he promised to do so," said De Baca. "Before I left, the officers came and arrested me with McBride. McBride will corroborate my assertion that I knew nothing about the still."

McBride is in jail awaiting grand jury action, and he has not been permitted to give an interview for publication because he has had no advice from an attorney.
